DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Portions of MPEP 803.04 are repeated herein for Applicant's convenience.

"Examples of typical nucleotide sequence claims impacted by the partial waiver of 37 CFR 1.141 et seq. (and the partial waiver of 37 CFR 1.475 and 1.499 et seq., see MPEP § 1850) include...C) a combination of DNA fragments, said combination containing at least thirty different DNA fragments selected from SEQ ID Nos. 1-1,000...Applications containing only composition claims reciting different combinations of individual nucleotide sequences, such as set forth in example (C), will be subject to a restriction requirement. Applicants will be required to select one combination for examination. If the selected combination contains ten or fewer sequences, all of the sequences of the combination will be searched. If the selected combination contains more than ten sequences, the combination will be examined following the procedures set forth above for example (B). More specifically, the combination will be searched until one nucleotide sequence is found to be allowable with the examiner choosing the order of search to maximize the identification of an allowable sequence. The identification of any allowable sequence(s) will cause all combinations containing the allowed sequence(s) to be allowed."

The instant application contains a single claim which comprises therein a multiplicity of groups. The claim as written is unclear, but it includes an interpretation wherein the claimed DNA chip comprises any number of the 70 different probes recited. Applicant is required to elect a SINGLE set of probes to be contained on the chip. This set can include all 70 of the recited probes or any smaller number of probes. In accordance with MPEP 803.04, the identification of any allowable combination will cause all combinations containing the allowed sequences to be allowed. For whichever combination of probes is elected, applicant is requested to identify the probes by proper sequence identifier.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Each particular grouping of probes from among the 70 probes listed is drawn for the detection of a separate allele or polymorphism. Each of the probes is patentably distinct from the other because it comprises a unique chemical structure which is not predicted by the other probes. Each combination of probes, therefore is distinct from one another because they are drawn to include any number of distinct probes.

2. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as demonstrated by their different classification and recognized divergent subject matter and because the examination of each possible group of probes requires different searches that are not coextensive, examination of these claims would pose a serious burden on the examiner and therefore restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
